

CAN A CAREER IN MASSAGE THERAPY

MAKE YOU HEALTHY & HAPPY?

Excellent Growth Potential

Thanks to a highly competitive skill set and high demand, massage therapists can distinguish themselves in today's dynamic health and wellness industry. The massage therapy industry is expected to grow almost 32% between now and 2030.

Today's practitioner can embrace a world of possibility.

From classroom teaching and publication to 'hands-on' therapeutic sessions, a variety of satisfying career options are currently available. The services provided by massage therapists are now an integral component of modern-day wellness practices and are requested more often than those of traditional physical therapists.

Steady, Rewarding Career

Massage therapists enjoy rewarding, stable careers that often allow for flexible hours and a wide variety of workplace environments. Popular job options include vacation resorts, professional sports teams, hospitals, and more. Massage therapists practice their craft alongside leaders in the healthcare industry, including MDs, chiropractors, and physical therapists. Massage therapy education is affordable, flexible, and can be completed in as little as 6–7 months. Once completed, graduates are recognized as health care professionals who bring health and healing to millions of people who need safe, trained, therapeutic, appropriate touch as part of their wellness regimen.

Direct Impact on Community Wellness

Massage therapy was recently ranked in the Top Best Health Care Support Jobs by U.S. News and World Report. Massage therapy can be used to promote physical and psychological well-being in children and adults of all ages. Massage therapists help reduce stress, pain, and the side effects of strains, sprains, arthritis, hypertension, cancer, and other ailments. Therapists can make a unique and direct impact on the general well-being of the community they call home.

Choose growth, happiness, and health for you and all your future clients. Choose a career in Massage Therapy!

WITH THANKS TO OUR CORNERSTONE PARTNERS:

MASSAGE HEIGHTS

